25X1A Mr. Coffey [REDACTED]

25X1A Sorry, I thought I had responded orally about my follow-up conversation with [REDACTED] on the subject of Storage of Emergency Records which are of interest to the National Security Council Staff.

25X1A [REDACTED] has a top secret file going back several years which shows the Agency began storing a variety of intelligence reports at [REDACTED] emergency relocation sites. Each of these collections is up-dated at regular monthly intervals. The total volume at each site is less than 2 four-drawer safes.

25X1A At the meeting with Colonel Behr, [REDACTED] expressed a willingness to do whatever the National Security Council requests. The system and servicing of it were started at the request of the White House and can be continued or discontinued at their pleasure. It was left that Colonel Behr will look into this further and advise [REDACTED] whether they want to continue the service, change it in some way, or discontinue it. We have no further action until, or unless we hear from Colonel Behr again.
